PROFILE

Dr Howard has gained an excellent reputation for his clinical negligence and personal injury work, both at a County Court and High Court level. His legal knowledge and approach is favoured by his solicitors, clients and the judiciary alike.

Practicing as a medical Doctor, he has a particular interest and expertise in Clinical Negligence and medical causation. His wealth of legal experience is in addition to his work as an Assistant Deputy Coroner, experience gained as a Doctor and whilst completing a Bachelor of Medicine & Surgery at Manchester University and an MSc in Orthopaedic Engineering. Both degrees have further developed Dr Howard's knowledge in understanding the mechanics causative of injury. Dr Howard's research has been recognised both nationally and internationally and he is currently undertaking a part-time PhD in Surgery at Liverpool University.

Dr Howard specialises in:

- Clinical Negligence
- Employer Liability
- Industrial Disease (including asbestosis, noise deafness and repetitive strain injury)
- Sexual Abuse
- Sporting Injuries
- Road Traffic and other claims
- Compensation Recovery Unit appeal

Dr Howard spent a year on secondment working for Johnson, Stokes and Master in Hong Kong; the largest Solicitors firm in Asia. This experience gave him insight into the challenges and demands made on solicitors, which is of great benefit to those who instruct him.

As a result of his extensive legal practice and in-depth medical knowledge, Dr Howard offers a truly unique insight into personal injury, having the skill to cross-examine expert medical witnesses combined with the ability to thoroughly interrogate medical evidence.

A number of cases in which Dr Howard has been involved have been reported in Kemp & Kemp and Current Law.

Dr Howard is known for his common-sense, down to earth and approachable style which has always been favorably received by Solicitors and clients alike.
