We are also pleased to welcome back Gerben Janson, an Advocaat from the Netherlands.

This seminar will cover three main areas:

- "How to successfully use the Consumer Credit Act 1974 in Holiday Claims" Laura D'Cruz, 9 St John Street
- "Brexit – the (potential) implications on cross-border PI claims" Ian Denham, 9 St John Street
- "Quantifying Personal Injury Damages in the Netherlands." Gerben Janson, Tromp Advocaten

9 St John Street is 'an incredibly strong set of chambers where the barristers have a wide variety of skillsets'. Legal 500

The personal injury group at 9 St John Street is well regarded for providing a broad range of expertise, encompassing both claimant and defendant work in complex cases.

Litigating Cross-Border Tort and Holiday Claims

IAN DENHAM

Ian is described by Legal 500 as 'A knowledgeable practitioner in the field of international cross-border claims.' He is also head of Chambers' Travel Team and Secretary to the PEOPIL RTA & Whiplash European Exchange Group. He has developed an expertise in conflicts of law of law issues and has a strong technical knowledge of matters relating to jurisdiction and applicable law and in particular direct rights of action against insurers. His practice also covers package holiday claims and convention claims.

LAURA D'CRUX

Laura is described by Legal 500 as "a specialist in all aspects of commercial law", and has considerable experience of the Consumer Credit Act 1974. In the field of holiday claims, she advises on issues relating to breach of contract/disappointed holiday claims, and has also been instructed in a number of flight delay claims, including the successful appeal in Raymond v South African Airways Ltd (Lawtel, 2016).

GERBEN JANSON

Gerben started his career handling personal injury cases for a major insurer. In 2008 he started working at Maarten Tromp Advocaten, acting for claimants alone. This combination of insights enables him to reach constructive settlements. Besides personal injury cases, he also handles international penal traffic law cases. Gerben is a member of PEOPIL and the American Association of Justice.

Gerben is experienced in advising English claimants and insurers on all issues of Dutch personal injury law.

REGISTRATION - There is a £10.00 fee for attending this seminar. All profit from the seminar is donated to 9 St John Street's charity '9 Lives' which is a community based charity working in association with Forever Manchester.
